Open-Source Community Event

May 23-24th 2024

JSHeroes 2024 is a two-day conference, organized by the JavaScript community from Cluj. We are inspired by the open source software model, and aim to create an open source, non-profit event, where budgets and organizational details are transparent and shared with the community.

Our Mission

We strongly believe that JavaScript is the future. Therefore, our mission is to provide an opportunity for growing and improving the skills in our local environment, and keep our community in sync with the latest advancements in the JavaScript ecosystem.

Designed by the Community

The community model is the best environment for learning, so part of our mission is to inspire and help other communities. We'll continue to publish, for the 6th edition as well, all data about this conference, in full transparency. This way, whenever the next javascripters wish to take over this event, they can build on our knowledge and the already created brand.

JSHeroes Speaker Testimonials

To me, JSHeroes is a lot about JavaScript, but even more about the actual heroes which make this great community - the attendees with their appetite for knowledge, and the organizers who thought of every little detail to make this conference a great party of knowledge sharing playground.

People just start talking about their pains in the code business. It's amazing! It feels like a group therapy, in a way. And this is something you cannot replace when doing online events.
